KITSON'S PASSES

Throws Away Game He Has Already Well in Hand.

PHILADELPHIA, April 20.-Held con pletely under the spell of Kitson's mas-terly pitching for four innings, the Athletics finally found their batting eyes and materially assisted by passes to first were returned a winner against Hirst were returned a winner against Washington today by 6 to 5.

It was an interesting contest witnessed by 5.838 spectators who were periodically warmed by their own enthusiasm when an Athletic player completed a brilliant fielding play or did something temporarily heroic with the bat. Washington died hard. Not until Monte Cross grabbed Hickman's grounder, tossed the ball to Murphy, completing the final out of the game, was the game won. Washington Hit Well.

Washington made a determined finish and but for a display of poor judgment by a player at third the Nationals might have tied the score at their last time at bat. The visitors hit Bender hard all through. In fact, much harder than the score shows, but in only one inning did their batting produce results in runs,

Kitson was in fine form early in the game, but he pitched poorly in the late inning, not only being hit quite hard, but his passes were directly responsible for three of the Athletics' runs, while his fumble of Schreck's easy grounder also contributed to the home team's total.

Two Runs Off Passes.

The hard up hill fight put up by the Athletics was deserving of victory. Up to the fifth they had failed to find Kitson for a single hit and when they went to bat in their half of the fifth were handicapped by a lead of four runs. 1 was in this inning that they began to get on more familiar terms with Kitson's curves, although the latter's fretransportation to first largely contrib

Washington's Good Inning.

Washington made a fusillade of hits in the fourth inning, scoring four runs by a splendid batting rally. Jones was the first to face Bender, the latter fumbling his grounder. Perrine drove out a long double to right-center, Jones taking third base. Heydon singled to left, Jones scoring, but Hartsel held Perrine
